

Mountain ash day. We called today's day mountain ash day because we decided to support the regional ecological action "Mountain ash": we picked mountain ash - 10 kg of red and 3 kg of black mountain ash. Then we handed over our harvest to the local shop for recycling. Let some people get advantage from our small action. You will ask - why so little of these autumn berries did you collect? We have just started and hope that friends from other classes will support us in picking this very autumn berry!

When a holiday comes, we unexpectedly receive beautifully issued cards with warm words of congratulations. It's very kind of those who it send from. Any greeting card makes our hearts feel happy, doesn't it? There are cards big and tiny, there are cards very simple and brightly and brilliantly decorated and ... they are so different that it is simply difficult to describe. And where these wonderful cards come from? Certainly, it is the whole empire of congratulation cards and a huge art industry with its designers creates them. That is what we talked today about. What is the art industry and who are so named designers and how they create such miracles? We answered these questions and visited a personal exhibition of thematic cards of the class teacher. Olga Mikhailovna accurately placed them in file folders and it is pleasant to see them with our own eyes. Collecting cards is her hobby. For those who are interested in drawing and art, it is really useful thing because viewing such beautiful cards illustrations really develops somebody's art imagination. And for those who wants to become a designer, an artist, an illustrator, an advertiser, a designer - it is simply a treasure! These are the most modern professions today, aren't they? What's more, we thought about how to apply cards with advantage in order not to keep them on shelves. So we decided to make of them bookmarks with a crib which will contain some rules and formulas, and the front part of a card will please our eyes with the beautiful image. Fantastic!

A Huge Empire of Greeting Cards
